FAY GUILTY ON THREE COUNTS

Sentence To Be Passed Monday, On Admissions to Burglary, Grand Theft, Jailbreaking

Robert Fay will learn Monday the penalty society demands of him for jailbreaking, grand theft and burglary.

The county jail prisoner who enjoyed twenty-one months of liberty after fleeing the county jail on September 29, 1936, in company with two others, appeared in Superior Court Thursday morning for arraignment without counsel.

Judge George H. Thompson informed him of his right to have the advice of an attorney if he so desired. The defendant did not desire an attorney.

Fay was then arraigned on two indictments found by the county grand jury in December of 1936. The first charged jailbreaking, to which he pleaded guilty.

The second indictment was in two counts, and charged burglary of a building of the Union Paving Company near Strawberry, in one count; and grand theft, in the stealing of a quantity of dynamite, caps and fuses, in the other count. To these the defendant pleaded guilty.

After testimony by Sheriff George M. Smith that the building burglarized was not a place of habitation, and that the defendant was not armed in the burglary, the court determined the burglary to have been a burglary of the second degree.

Judge Thompson, who had set Monday at ten o'clock as the time for passing sentence in the jailbreaking, ordered that sentence on the burglary and grand theft pleas would also be passed at the same time.

Girl's Charges Jail Rancher

Newton B. Kinley, Held $10,000 Bail, Denies Guilt Of Child's Accusations

SANTA ROSA, (UP)—Newton B. Kinley, 37, well-to-do orchardist and a director of the state Farm Bureau Federation, was held in jail here today on a charge involving the 13-year-old daughter of a prominent Santa Rosa family.

The complaint against Kinley was signed by District Attorney Toland McGottigan in order to prevent the girl's identity becoming known.

Kinley's bail was set at $10,000 cash. McGottigan said he had questioned the girl and her parents at length before ordering Kinley's arrest. According to the prosecutor, the girl told of an association which began five years ago and was interspersed with overnight visits to Kinley's home at Grayton, near here. Kinley denied the charge and retained an attorney.

Sentence Suspended In Resort Theft Case

J. E. Mahoney charged with petty theft, is under a 30-day suspended sentence on order of Justice of the Peace Clyde Mayhew, at Lake Valley, following conviction of the charge.

Mahoney was arrested on the complaint of the management of Camp Richardson, by whom he was employed, charging him with the theft of $70. Mahoney was said to have been room clerk at the resort.

A large number of life-long friends share with the family the sorrow of their bereavement.

Four Polling Places Designated In County For Vote July 29th In Response To Order Of Agricultural Prorate Commission; Cemetery Hearing Set

In response to an order by the Agricultural Prorate Commission, the Board of Supervisors at their regular July meeting made plans for an election among grape growers of the county, to be held at four polling places on July 29th, in co-operation with growers of grapes in forty-two other counties of the state.

Aged Man, Boy Of 15, Arrested At Lake

According to District Attorney Henry S. Lyon, Traffic Officer Bob Fowler, who made the arrest, said the boy was driving a car with Morrison as passenger and that both gave evidence of having been drinking.

A bottle of liquor found in their possession bore a license stamp of the State of Nevada, indicating the liquor was purchased there.

16th Century Dress Shocks Royalty

LONDON, (UP)—Buckingham Palace attaches were dumbfounded last night when they noticed that the dress of one of the debutantes presented to King George at the third royal court of the season, resembled a beach costume composed of brassiere and skirt.

Courtiers were "horrified" when another debutante paraded in front of the king in a dress cut exceedingly low in the back.

Then they became "speechless" when a third debutante appeared in an ensemble with a 16th century square neckline cut lower than any seen at a court since Victorian days when women wore "off the shoulder" gowns.

CRASH INJURIES FATAL TO BOY

Nephew Of Placerville Woman Succumbs Following Accident Wednesday Afternoon

George Wallace, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wallace, of Sacramento, and a nephew of Mrs. Philip Frost, of Placerville, passed away at Placerville Sanatorium Wednesday night as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident earlier in the day.

The body was removed to Memory Chapel and was to be taken to Sacramento Thursday afternoon for funeral services and interment.

The boy suffered fractures of the right thigh and lower leg, and a broken right heel, abrasions of the left leg and multiple cuts and bruises in an accident on the Mosquito road near the Miller place about a mile from the city limits shortly after 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Two cars figured in the crash, a machine driven by A. L. Wallace, 75, the boy's grandfather, and a county road truck driven by Irving Ball.

The Wallace car was enroute to Placerville and the boy was riding on the left-hand running board of the car, when the machine collided with the truck, outboard, on a curve. The child was caught between the two machines in an impact so severe as to disable both cars.

The boy was removed to Placerville Sanatorium in the Orelli ambulance under the care of Dr. D. W. Babcock and despite every care given him, his injuries were so severe that he could not recover.

County Supervisor P. J. Hall and Traffic Captain E. A. Brewster opened an investigation into the accident.

6 Safe On River, Says Radio

Message To Parks Service Claims Group 100 Miles Above Lee's Ferry

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., (UP)—The National Park Service reported today receiving a radio message indicating the two women and four men, missing on an expedition down the Colorado River, are safe.

The message, park headquarters said, seemed to be from an amateur radio operator attempting to relay information at some point along the river.

The message read: "Colorado party 100 miles above Lee's Ferry."

Park service men interpreted this to mean the passage through Cataract Canyon, considered the most dangerous part of the journey, had been successfully completed despite the flood-swollen waters of the Colorado.

Three men left Richfield, Utah, today on a leisurely hike to the isolated town of Hite, Utah, where they planned to begin a boat trip down the Colorado River canyon to Lee's Ferry, Arizona.

The latest group to brave the perils of the flood-swollen stream is composed of Dr. L. F. H. Lowe, Princeton University professor; Harold Hartschorn, Jr., Princeton student, and Dave Rust, veteran river guide.

Suit for divorce from Kenneth Nace was on file Thursday in Superior Court in behalf of Bernice Nace. Papers, prepared by Attorneys Lyon and Roberts, state the couple wed at Reno March 6, 1937, separated on July 5, 1938, and have one child, whose custody the plaintiff prays. Grounds of cruelty are alleged.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

Ever since we fell into the little creek at the lower end of the University campus when we were four years old, we haven't been able to keep away. That fall must have conditioned our nervous system in some way because even though we have received cinch notices, been flunked out of some courses, failed at try-outs with the important profs, we are a bear for punishment and every two or three years we feel the urge to sit in a class room and listen to words of wisdom.

The Campus looks like a summer resort. There was a time when school teachers wore hideous dresses and saffron aprons but no more now. They are a modish and snappy lot. You do see an occasional male. One fellow who looked like Friar Tuck nipped across the Campus waving his Panama hat as though he were preparing for a grand lark.

A few parents enrolled with their offspring. We saw a mother all decked out in a Dirndl dress and kerchief, very brisk and pally whooping it along with the girls. A gal from Georgia was registering, very fluffy as to clothes but very sketchy as to plans. She decided to choose one course from the A-s and another from the Z-s, so she enrolled in anthropology and zoology. She will probably need all of her southern charm before the session is over.

We buzzed into the library but all the files and no books got us rattled and we couldn't think of a book we wanted for at least ten minutes. We had the bright idea to ask one of the efficient young men at the call desk how many copies of "Gone With the Wind" the students had worn out, but we were afraid he might think we had escaped from the looneybin, as well he might, and we desisted. But we do know for a fact that in a women's college, and the Kathleen Norris novels have been read so much that they are worn to a frazzle. If Kathleen Norris reads this, she may be inspired to supply new ones. We will be glad to furnish her with the address.

There is everything in the way of learning for the 3,000 in attendance at the summer session from soup to nuts. You can learn about microbes or how to teach social dancing. If you have ambitions to become a cop, come and learn how the police department works and about fingerprinting. There is a course on the control of poverty but we are a little suspicious about it as we have seen it on the announcement of courses for the last twenty years.

You can get pointers on diving or on how to paint landscapes. You can come proficient in boxing and wrestling and you can become a wiz on personality adjustments. Knowledge on carbon compounds and communicable diseases is at your service. If you are so minded you can even take a course in human dissection (listed in "Anatomy" and not on how to become a cannibal). The political and social struggle of Spain is right up to the minute under the able presentation of Major General Barrows. You can go from such extremes as the development of modern costumes to the thermal properties of matter. You can improve your golf stroke or you can learn something about the Bible as literature.

Social insurance, international commerce and the family budget are all considered separately. You can go in for personality disorders and the Russian novelists as the two go well together. And if you want something entirely disparate, you can take "projective and affine geometry" and "the madrigal in Italy," or the technique of weaving and the jurisdiction of California law courts. In fact you can even learn to shoot a wicket bow as archery is among the subjects listed.

If you haven't already begun reading "Sailor on Horseback" in the Saturday Evening Post, get the last two copies. It is the life of Jack London written by Irving Stone. Stone, you remember, scored with his book on Van Gogh "Lust for Life" and he will go places with the London book. For porch travel try Zephine Humphrey's "Cactus Forest" a vagabond journey from Vermont to Arizona with a detour to California which deflates us somewhat and a superb account of the wonders of the Carlsbad Caverns.

If you are looking for humorous books for summer reading, we recommend "I Lost My Girl's Laughter" by Jane Allen and "Though Young" by Leighton Barret.

FIVE-MILE TERRACE

The glorious Fourth found quite a number of Terrace residents spending a quiet vacation at home. Very few fireworks were heard. However, the steady hum of traffic continued from Saturday until Tuesday morning and speeding motorists made a regular race track of this stretch of the highway. Four hundred and eighty-six cars travelling towards Placerville were counted Saturday evening between five and six p. m.

Rance MacFarland spent July Fourth at Lake Tahoe with a group of friends from Placerville.

Gary and Evon Stennett spent Sunday at the Reno rodeo, returning to Lake Tahoe in the evening for the fireworks display. They found the streets of Reno crowded to capacity with visitors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Williams, with Juanita and Jackie, spent the week-end at Ice House. The Potts cabin, often used by Camino residents, was crushed by last winter's snow and its contents scattered. The forest ranger on duty told Mr. Williams that exactly three hundred families chose that particular area for their outing. Fishing was excellent, Mr. Williams reports.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Preston and son, of Sacramento, spent Thursday and Friday with Mrs. Lena Vanyle. Mr. Preston is her nephew.

Mrs. Chesmore spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Childs.

John R. W. Wilson was transacting business in San Francisco Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Baker and daughter, of Camino Heights Orchard, drove to Reno for the holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Wilson of Pilot Hill spent Saturday with the John R. W. Wilsons.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leavitt and sons, with Mrs. Leavitt's sister, Mrs. Hawk, and Mr. Flint of Fair Oaks, also attended the Reno rodeo. Mrs. Leavitt says their party had a most enjoyable trip.

Visiting Mrs. Gene Lowery over the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. Irwin, of Alcayann and Roger, came up Thursday from Elk Grove for a visit with the home folks.

Ira Steed, found guilty Tuesday before Justice of the Peace J. W. Landis on a charge of drunken driving, was able to arrange to pay the fine.

The soft drink stand built by young Mr. John Wilson was opened last Friday and John reports doing a nice business during the holiday.

The Hennings family was down from camp 14 for the week-end and visited Mrs. Hennings' mother, Mrs. Martin, of Camino.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Aldridge and daughters, Edith and Nadine, of Stockton, called on Mr. Aldridge's brother, George Walker, Sunday. With Mrs. Aldridge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Presley and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Bowman, of Sacramento, they were on their way to spend their vacation at Black Bird camp near Riverton.

Mr. Hennings spent some time spraying and irrigating the fruit trees at his home in the Terrace.

On the advice of her physician, Dr. McKinnon, Mrs. Ralph LeVitt was transferred Sunday to the University Hospital in San Francisco. Mr. LeVitt reports that she stood the trip better than was expected. The best wishes of all her friends go with her.

Louie Baumgart is laying the foundation for a four-room cottage with garage attached.

Ralph LeVitt is adding a glassed-in breakfast room to his home.

Mrs. Joe Miller's flower garden is particularly beautiful now and makes a perfect setting for her green bungalow among the pines.

Supervisor Bassi had a crew of men with the scraper at work on Mt. Murphy grade last week and made many good improvements.

The river having receded sufficiently for the pumps to work, Hector Williamson again has his crew of men getting ready to place concrete piers for the new north end of our bridge. While he and his men were busy a man drove up to the thirty-five gallon tank of gasoline placed some distance away and helped himself. When Hector discovered his loss he gave chase but we have not heard that he caught his man.

The Fourth was celebrated here by different groups of summer residents having a fire works display near the river.

PINO GRANDE

Pino Grande was a very quiet and peaceful community over the July 4th holiday due to the mill being shut down and many people leaving camp.

There was quite an exodus of Pino Grande people to Loon Lake on Saturday and Sunday. Among the fishermen were, Mr. and Mrs. Ivor Elving and son, Lewis; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips and two children; Harold Keller, Chuck Jones, Victor Dart, Bill Immer, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Saylor and son, Robert and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Jones.

Fishing on both Loon and Pleasant Lakes was very good. Everyone caught some fish but no one got a lot. Charlie Jones was high point man with a 24-inch Loch-Leven trout.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carrick, Dorothy Watkins, Reginald Darr and Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Parker spent the past week end in the San Francisco bay region.

Robert McCarroll spent a profitable Fourth by repairing the bridge over Tickey Creek for the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Berry spent the Fourth at Lake Tahoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Wilhite were surprised Friday morning by a visit from Mr. Wilhite's parents from Los Angeles. Saturday they all drove up to Lake Tahoe and spent a very enjoyable holiday.

Due to the fact that the next three months are busy ones for a housewife, doing gardening and canning, it has been decided to hold no further meetings of the "Stitch and Chatter" club until October. The first meeting will be held on the first Friday of the month at the home of Mrs. Soderberg.

Carl Mason and wife, and infant son, are spending this week vacationing here and visiting with his brother, Brooks Mason.

Among those who visited over the week-end in Placerville were Doyle and Raymond Hockett, Howard Ellis and Clarence Ball.

J. F. Reynolds, dry kiln foreman, and Gust Erickson, local chef, were visitors in San Francisco this past week.

MISSOURI FLAT

The card party that was given June 28 in the New Community Hall was a complete success. Thirty-five tables of which were played, Dr. Claude Long officiated and Mrs. Lena Tatum, Mrs. Isabel Long, and Mrs. Sam Swartz had charge of the refreshment and placing the tables, etc. Special thanks go to the members of the community and farm bureau members for their cooperation in making their first party a success. Owing to the unexpected large crowd, the party was late in starting but those in the near future will start on schedule. We also wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Perschke for the donation of a prize and the use of tables; the Smiths Flat Parent Teachers and especially Mrs. Baalke; the American Legion and other organizations for the use of tables and chairs. Mrs. Claude Long kindly gave the use of her kitchen

SHINGLE SPRINGS

The Fourth of July passed very quietly in our town and almost everyone was out of town to spend the three-day holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sheets of Sacramento, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sheets made a trip to the lake on Sunday and drove around the lake. They report the road fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Victory Wyatt, of Sacramento, will soon make their home at Mrs. Garney's home, if reports are to be credited. We are glad to see them move back to town as they are both well known here. Mrs. Wyatt was, before her marriage, Miss Erma White.

Mrs. Clarence Scheiber made a trip to Wheatland on Tuesday.

for making of the refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Jense of Sacramento were visiting at the home of Roy Marks, Sunday.

The group from Missouri Flat that was seen enjoying the 4th of July at the river near Lotus were the H. B. Tatum, their friends, Mr. Dee and son Jack and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lydia Thompson, the McStay family, Mr. and Mrs. Vic Banta, Roy Marks and family and many others.

Gunner Forsbeck, recently back from Norway, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leite.

The cedar chest was presented June 28 to Mrs. Giam Bruno, proprietress of the Miners Store of El Dorado. Congratulations, Mrs. Bruno.

"COCOANUT GROVE" NEW FEATURE FILM AT EMPIRE

The world's most famous night club is brought to the screen for the first time in Paramount's "Cocoanut Grove," the new film coming today to the Empire Theatre.

Distinctly new type of film fun is presented in this gay romance that revolves about the trials, tribulations, and the final success of an unknown swing band trying to break into the actual Cocoanut Grove, mecca of all young bandleaders.

While the production is studded with hit tunes, the story has not been subordinated to music and specialties. On the contrary, each musical number makes what the movie scripters call a "story point," contributing to the logical development of the plot.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sales and Miss Bernice Sumone, of Oakland, were here for the holiday weekend visiting Mrs. Sales' sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Longhurst.

Eskimo Babe Bartered For $49 Tent

EDMONTON, Alta. (UP)—A Winnipeg attorney just returned from a five-day trip through the wilds of northwestern Canada told today of seeing an Eskimo baby traded for a $49 tent.

Attorney John A. Macaulay said he witnessed the transaction at Great Bear Lake.

"The baby was purchased by an Indian family, most of whose children had died," he said.

Indian "Sing" Blamed For Diphtheria Spread

WINDOW ROCK, Ariz. (UP)—Three thousand Navajo Indians who attended a "sing"—primitive tribal cure-all—were given immunizing serum today to check an outbreak of diphtheria which took six lives and sent many others to hospitals.

Dr. W. W. Peters, Navajo service medical head, blamed the "sing" for the outbreak.

SOCIAL TRIUMPH BASIS OF MARITAL RIFT FOR HEIRESS

LONDON. (Copyright 1938 by United Press)—A social triumph which backfired caused the final marital rift between Countess Barbara Hutton Haugwitz-Reventlow and her husband, circles closely connected with the couple said today.

Prince Frederick of Prussia, grandson of the former German Kaiser, was mentioned as the center of the dispute, and as the man whom, according to testimony at Bow Street police court Tuesday, Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow threatened to "shoot like a dog."

Before the Bow Street hearing, it had been reported that Prince Frederick received threatening messages from France—the Count was then in Paris—and that he was connected with the Haugwitz-Reventlow dispute.

To a United Press correspondent who visited him at his offices in the United Potash Company in the financial district, the Prince then laughed at the reports.

Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Cannon and son, Joe, of Oakland; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Dugan, of Hollywood; and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Herren and son, Joseph, of San Francisco, were Fourth of July visitors at the E. R. Dathe ranch, near Newtown.

Mrs. Henry Bacchi was a caller in the county seat Thursday from Lotus.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Luther, Mr. and Mrs. Del Cheney and Mrs. De Wolf, spent the Fourth of July holidays at Santa Cruz.

PARADE OF SPORTS

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK. (UP)—He looks and acts as little like a speed demon as any one you could imagine.

His wavy hair is brushed with gray, and his pale blue eyes look at you from behind horned-rimmed glasses. He is shy, and this trait is accentuated by a reddish moustache on the mousy-side.

His favorite topic of conversation is the raising of chickens, and he would much prefer to discuss incubators than carburetors and cars that thunder across the ground at better than 300 miles an hour.

His name is George E. T. Eyston—Captain George E. T. Eyston—and he was flying toward Salt Lake and the salt flats of Bonneville for another assault on his own world's land speed record of 311.42 m.p.h.

The last time I saw the Captain—not counting the brief interview in his suite at the Biltmore yesterday—was in the cold dawn of a day last November. He had just finished a run for the record in his silver Thunderbolt, a seven-ton, 3,600-horsepower monster that whines, not roars, as it rockets its driver faster than any other man has ever traveled on earth.

Those runs on the salt beds, prehistoric eyecores, afford the most eerie sight in sports. I'll never forget the one I saw. We left Salt Lake by plane, in the darkness just before dawn, and were on the beds, 100 miles away, before the sun got there. A cold wind came down from the mountains that rim the desolate waste.

We stationed ourselves at the start of the measured mile, the only light we had was that provided by the thin, any red lights.

cold fingers of the state troopers' automobile headlamps. Far down the flat beds, six miles away, the lights of campfires glowed—the campfires of Captain Eyston's base, where Thunderbolt was being readied for its dash across the hammer-hard salt.

Then dawn came. Slowly at first, then violently, the sky was shot with colors. Crimson, orange, blue, purple. It was an unreal light, and standing there in the deep quiet of the vast salt beds one felt as if he were watching not only the dawn of another day, but the dawn of creation.

Word came that Eyston had started. This word wasn't needed, because riding with the wind came a whine—an ugly, menacing whine. Thunderbolt's motor was singing its song of speed. And riding it, waving his baton of the chorus of mighty cylinders, was Eyston, the quiet, blue-eyed man whose hobby is raising chickens.

We peered through the pale light, for the first sight of him. But Thunderbolt is silver, and the morning was silver, and it was not until the car was almost in front of us did we see it.

A high, piercing "Whee-e-e-e-e-e!" Sheets of colored flame. A tremble of the Earth. That was all.

Now the Captain's on his way again, for another dice with death on the salt. This time he hopes to achieve the "magic three," as he refers to his goal of 333 miles per hour.

Thunderbolt has been improved in line and power. The biggest change in the lines involved the complete enclosing of the driver's seat. Last November he drove exposed and the wind whipped off his goggles, forcing him to make one run driving with one hand. Even the Captain doesn't think that's healthy. In fact, he admits it is downright dangerous.

Good luck, Captain, and don't pass any red lights.

Pardi's Grocery Sale Is Intended

According to a notice filed with the county recorder on July 2, it is the intention of Emil Pardi to sell his grocery store to George K. Fausel.

It is reported, also, but not confirmed, that the meat department of the business will be taken over by Archie Hicks.

Justice of the Peace and Mrs. T. F. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Reeg returned Wednesday evening from a Fourth of July auto trip which took them to Reno, northward through Alturas to Crater Lake, thence to The Dalles, down the Columbia River highway and home over the Redwood highway. They had thought they might go to Boulder Dam, instead of on the above trip, but changed their plans later.
